BUCKNELL GAME ENDS IN A RIOT

Police Draw Revolvers to Save Referee Suter
From Violence.

BUCKNELL, TEN;
V. P. I., NOTHING

The Game Hard Fought and Brilliantly Played Throughout—In Blocking Kicks Bucknell Were Past-Masters and Made Their Points Thereby.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NORFOLK, VA., November 10.—Bucknell won a turbulent game of football from the Virginia Polytechnic Institute this afternoon, the score being Bucknell, 10; V. P. I., 0.

The game broke up in a riot. The police force had to draw revolvers to save Referee Suter from a mob of V. P. I. students and friends.

The trouble all came in less than five minutes of the end of the last half of the game. An apparent touchdown by Suter, of the V. P. I., coupled with an unsatisfactory decision by Umpire Metzger, starting it. When the Blacksburg boys went to their bench, announcing they would not continue the game, one or two hot-headed spectators made uncomplimentary remarks about the officials. Others jumped over the fence on to the field, going first to the V. P. I. bench.

A moment later, a throng of excited spectators thronged over the field. Referee Suter was surrounded by excited spectators, and angry threats were made against him. Many of those on the field did not know what the trouble was about. For himself and Mr. Metzger, Mr. Suter told of the incident leading up to the trouble as follows: After the play was started, Umpire Metzger blew his whistle and called "holding," the penalty being against V. P. I. In the meantime, Captain Suter, who was carrying the ball, ran down the field and scored what seemed to be a touchdown. The ball was brought back, and V. P. I. penalized Blacksburg yards. A moment later V. P. I. attempted a kick. This was blocked by Bucknell; the ball rolling over V. P. I.'s goal line. Bucknell fell on the ball for a touchdown.

At this point V. P. I. left the field. Referee Suter walked over and asked V. P. I. to finish the game. Several highly excited spectators rushed out on the field and threatened to strike him. This was followed by a general outbreak. The half-dozen policemen on the grounds found considerable difficulty in clearing the field. Suter was in the center of the disturbance, but it is only fair to say that most of those surrounding him were those of his friends. The policemen finally succeeded in working their way into the center of the ground, and after a hard tussle, drove the crowd back. The Blacksburg players will not admit that there was any holding on their part, and they allege that Metzger was unable to name a man on the team who had held. They regard the decision as a bit of misadventure and as a great hardship on them.

The V. P. I. players received the ball on Bucknell's seventy-five-yard line, choosing the whole Bucknell team, and started the ball fairly behind the Bucknell line. As none of the spectators present had detected any holding by V. P. I., there was great disappointment when the ruling of the umpire became known.

Clark, for Bucknell, had kicked a field goal in the first half, and the touchdown of the latter counted. Blacksburg would have been one point ahead, and it is impossible that any more scoring would have been done, except perhaps the converting of the touchdown into a goal.

After quiet had been restored Referee Suter insisted that the game be played out. Blacksburg reconsidered and decided to go in again. But two and three-quarter minutes later remained for play. Even then the V. P. I. made a gallant effort to score, but it was in vain.

Luck was against the V. P. I. throughout. Suter frequently made long gains for V. P. I., but they did not come in the right time. Suter also made a fine try for a goal from the field from a difficult angle in the second half, but missed it by less than a yard.

Clark's goal was from the twenty-five-yard line.

The game was hard fought throughout, at times brilliantly played, and, except for the scoring by Bucknell, there was little difference in the playing abilities of the two teams. On ground gaining through the line and the end, V. P. I. had the best of it, but in kicking Bucknell was a shade the stronger, and in blocking the kicks of their opponents.

LAKEVIEW CLUB BEATS COLUMBIA

Local Players Defeat Washington Team in Interesting Golf Match in This City.

MAY FORM AN ASSOCIATION

Contest Between Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia and North Carolina Cities.

A friendly and informal team match of eighteen holes was played yesterday at the links of the Lakeside Country Club between representatives of the latter and the Columbia Golf Club, of Washington, D. C. The match was spirited and closely contested and was followed by a gallery largely composed of ladies.

The Lakeside team won out. The following table shows the points scored by the Nassau system:

LAKEVIEW
Palmer, E. J.	1
Morgan, J. W.	2
Organ, J. W.	3
James, J. W.	4
Harrison, J. W.	5
McKay, J. W.	6
COLUMBIA
Davidson, J. W.	1
McKee, J. W.	2
Weaver, J. W.	3
Wendell, J. W.	4
Curtis, J. W.	5
Weaver, J. W.	6

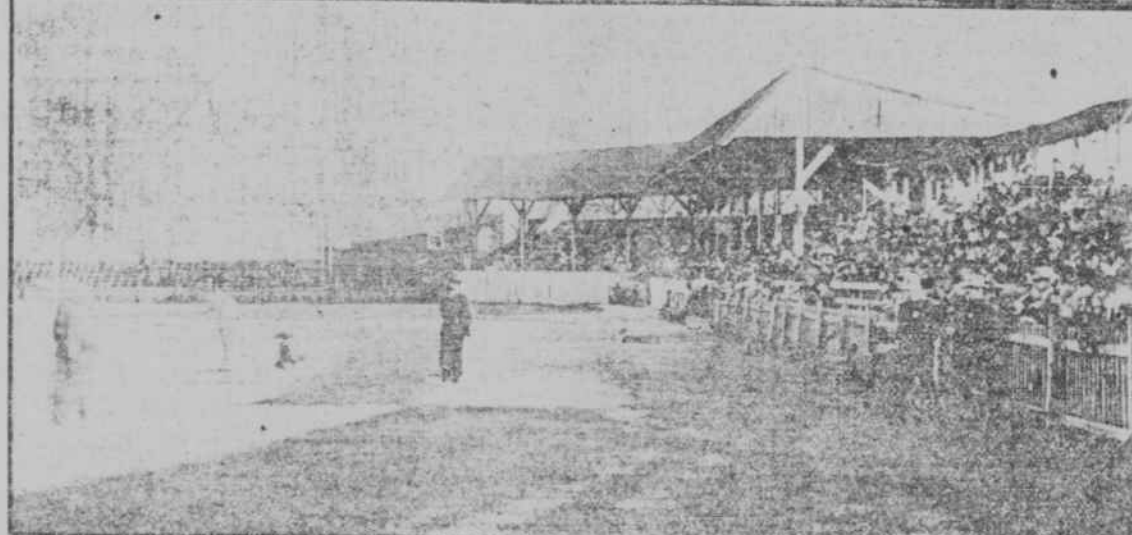

It is hoped that the outcome of the decision, which reflects the greatest credit on the sportsmanlike qualities of the Washington players, will be a series of club matches between the various cities of Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia and North Carolina, and lead to the formation of a Southern-Atlantic association.

BOSTON MANAGER PLEASED WITH TREATMENT RECEIVED

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BOSTON, MASS., November 10.—William B. Gorman, manager of the Massachusetts commercial and industrial exhibits at the Jamestown Exposition, has just returned here, well pleased with the excellent service and location secured by Massachusetts. He is enthusiastic over the outlook for Massachusetts manufacturers there, and declares that the exposition will win for the State something more substantial than admiration.

RALLYING POWER WINS FOR YALE

Brown Plays All Around Yale in First Half, Doing Sensational Work.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., November 10.—Sweep, playing and rallying power won today at Yale field a victory for the Yale eleven over the Brown team in one of the hardest football battles of the season. The final score was 5 to 0.

The visitors played all around the Yale team for almost the whole of the first half, sensational work marking the opening moments of the game. The Blue team played almost entirely in the defensive during the first half, depending on Veeber's punting to keep the ball out of dangerous territory.

In the second half Yale showed better form and while the forward pass was not used and no trick plays were in evidence, Brown's offense was held in better check, and the Blue began to play more aggressive ball.

MINNESOTA DEFEATS CHICAGO BY CLOSE SCORE

CHICAGO, November 10.—University of Minnesota's football eleven today defeated the University of Chicago 4 to 2 on Marshall Field. Handicapped by a rainy field and a slippery ball, the result of a drizzling rain that fell throughout the game, Chicago's attack was hindered.

Minnesota's defense was superb, and the Blue team played almost entirely in the defensive during the first half, depending on Veeber's punting to keep the ball out of dangerous territory.

NAVAL ACADEMY HAS CLOSE CALL

Score Against Swarthmore College Was 5 to 4—Latter Half Scoreless.

ANNAPOLIS, MD., November 10.—The Naval Academy football team today defeated the Swarthmore College eleven 5 to 4 in a hotly-contested game, the latter half of which was scoreless.

The game marked the return to the Naval Academy of the Midshipman Hugh Doolittle, of Nashville, Tenn., the football who has been out of the game for over a year, because of an injury to his knee. The first time he was given the ball he gained eight yards through the left of Swarthmore's line, which, like their backfield, outwitted that of the midshipmen's ground.

Has Leg Broken.

ANN ARBOR, MICH., November 10.—Captain "Doc" Curtis, of the University of Michigan football team, had his leg broken this afternoon during the second half of a game between the "Spartans" and a team composed of ineligible and scrubs. He will be in the hospital for several weeks, and his absence in the important game with Princeton next Saturday will greatly reduce Michigan's chance of victory.

VIRGINIA PAYS OFF OLD SCORE

Administers Stinging Defeat to Georgetown.

RANDOLPH DID
STELLAR WORK

Kicks Goal Twice and Arouses Enthusiasm by Safe and Clever Play—Charlottesville Contingent Makes Capital's Windows Rattle With Yells.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

WASHINGTON, November 10.—In one of those grand old-fashioned games which does the heart good and makes the blood run fast Virginia gave her foremost rival, Georgetown, the most stinging defeat in the history of the local institution by overwhelmingly whitewashing them by the score of 17 to 0 before 5,000 spectators. The sons of the Old Dominion gained revenge, and tonight the Virginians are making the nation's capital ring with college yells, and wild enthusiasm prevails over the victory that they have won and waited for since the season of '04, when the Georgetowners won out by the close margin of 17 to 16.

But it is different now. Virginia holds the coveted honors and also, lost one forgets, the championship of the South. The Edgitt House, where the victorious youth hold away in the scene of collegiate celebrations, and this famous holiday has never had such a joyful lot of guests. Besides the team of 22 men about 20 students made up the Old Dominion contingent.

The rosters went to the Georgetown field in all sorts of horseless carriages, many of them using the sight-seeing automobile. All the boys, with some exceptions, wore yellow crysanthemums, and the colors of the old Virginia-blue and orange-adorned the east stand like one sheet, while the fair sex formed a large part of the spectators.

The local adherents occupied the west stand, and the two rivals made the historic atmosphere of Little old Georgetown hum with thrilling yells.

Fast and Furious.

The battle for the Southern collegiate football supremacy was fast and furious, but the running haven of the Charlottesville school, with some exceptions, were yellow crysanthemums, and the colors of the old Virginia-blue and orange-adorned the east stand like one sheet, while the fair sex formed a large part of the spectators.

The first half opened when Hodgson kicked off to Stanford, who came up the field for ten yards, helped by the interference of Myers. Then Naff was shoofed through the line for three yards. Georgetown held strong, and Captain Johnson was forced to punt. McDougall caught the ball, but was thrown in his tracks, making no progress. A Virginia line smothered down, and Hodgson punted to Johnson, who made six yards, but Referee Gass penalized fifteen yards for tripping. Then Johnson kicked out, and Hodgson made a nice sprint on a gain of ten yards. Dutcher and Kerr, by the smashing, pushed the pigskin fourteen yards further up the field, and then O'Boyle broke through the line for five more, Dutcher made another three through center.

On the next play Kerr ran ten yards, but was penalized fifteen yards for hurdling. Bookout went around right end for five yards, and then tried a drop kick from Virginia's thirty-yard line. It missed, and the ball was brought out to the twenty-five-yard line, where Johnson punted to Kerr, who ran ten yards, but was finally tackled by Spear.

Tried Quarterback Run.

Bookout tried a quarterback run around left end, but was caught easily. Hodgson punted to Randolph, who made five yards, and Stanford added eight more around left end. Randolph kicked to Hodgson, who fumbled badly, Johnson recovering. The ball, however, again distinguished himself by making a twenty-yard sprint around right end, and then Johnson tried the forward pass to Madrox, but lost five yards by it.

In the next two tries Johnson made ten yards by line bucking, and Randolph tried the quarter-back run again for eight yards. Johnson again was forced to kick, and after several runs by Georgetown, Hodgson punted to Johnson, but was tackled without gain by Bookout. Scott and Johnson made six more, and Randolph kicked to Bookout, the ball taking a bad bound. With the ball on Virginia's twenty-five-yard line, Hodgson punted to Hodgson on
